President Trump:

Re: Separation of Church and State

Mr. Khizr Kahn asked if you had read the US Constitution; apparently, you haven't since it clearly states that we have a separation of church and states in the United States.

Your offer to prioritize "Christian minorities" from Syria is clearly unconstitutional since you are using religion as a mitigating factor. Wrong. No way. Unconstiitutional.

You must have lied when you said you'd read the US Constitution; or did you read it but failed to understand it? You make a mockery of "good government" - within your first week of the Presidency, you appear uninformed and chaotic. This is not what is expected.

President Obama was smart, thoughtful, elegant and poised. Emulate your predecessor, if that is even remotely possible.
