President trump* the Grump:

Re: Climate Change Policy

Your climate change policies are handing the technological future of renewable energy to the Chinese who do NOT think climate change is a hoax.

Re digging for more coal, how short-sighted and/or vindictive can you be? You're flailing around like a bull in a 'gina shop. Maybe you think you've got a hold on this 'gina but you don't. You're making America dirty again - and making our technological leadership a waning hope.

Do you not know what you're doing? Coal is dirty and you're giving license to pollute again for what, maybe, an industry of 70,000 coal miners VERSUS the 650,000 employees now working in the renewable energy sector. You're picking a LOSER - but that's to be expected from a LOSER like you. Perhaps the only energy source dirtier than coal is the Canadian tar sands - and you approved the Keystone Pipeline.

Are you doing this to spite President Obama? Regulations are good because they keep our environment clean. Duhhhhh! Americans want a clean America - but you're #makeAmericaDirtyAgain. You own it, trumpie*.

You are so stupid, short-sighted and mean-spirited. You don't want progress; you want destruction. You've darkened the good name of America around the world - and making it nearly impossible to meet the goals of the Paris Accord.

While you're jerking off thinking climate change is a hoax, China is building massive wind and solar farms. Who do you think will gain the requisite experience re renewable energy - and export it to the world?

[Russia is coming.]
