President Trump:

Re: Mocking the Handicapped

You grotesquely mocked a NYT reporter because of his physical disability. An intelligent man, cursed with an unfortunate disease, yet you had to publicly mock him.

But you did not only mock him - you mocked every handicapped person in the world. You truly showed your lack of compassion - and your willingness to step on people that are not as fortunate as you.

You only care about money and votes; your character is empty.

You are hardly a role model; and it pains me to see you as our President. You are such a poor example of a human being. Sad.
